

SGA's "Spring Fling" April 14-20

Spring is upon us and you've got no right to be bored!

No one has a right to get bored this week. Kathleen Vietoris and her committee of stars has gone all out this year to not only make an effort to welcome spring, but also to give us all a chance to have some good clean fun. What can be said about a group of people who have worked for weeks on this Spring Fling. They must be fools, fools who want only to see as many as possible have as much fun as the ground rules here on campus will allow.

We're going to see some firsts here this week. People will be eating live goldfish at noon on Wednesday and tubing across the lake on Friday, just to mention a few. There'll be dances, picnics, a hay ride and a road rally. Below you see a calendar of this week's events. Your best bet is to clutch this schedule in your little hand and get into as many events as your inhibitions will allow! If you haven't come out of hibernation yet this year here's your chance. It's spring!!

TUESDAY — The comedy team of O'Brian & Severra will appear from 11:00 'til noon on the bridge.

WEDNESDAY — 11:00 - Hoola Hoop Contest in D-mall.

12:00 - Goldfish eating contest, whoever can eat the most in 15 minutes will win an elegant dinner for two!!

"What Do We Have Here?"

Utah Site of 1975 Shakespearean Festival

There is a place of beauty where many delights of body and spirit are available within close proximity. This place is nestled in the mountains of the West in an area known as Color Country, USA.

Specifically, the community of Cedar City, Utah offers a month-long package of education and entertainment each summer which would be difficult to match anywhere.

Beginning in July 10 and lasting through August 9, the Utah Shakespearean Festival is staged on the campus of Southern Utah State College. Concurrently, it is possible to take summer school classes covering a broad spectrum of subject matter or to participate in a wide variety of short workshops and seminars. Many of these deal exclusively with Shakespeare and his works. College credit is available.

This summer, Louis Marder, nationally known authority on Shakespeare and the editor of THE SHAKESPEARE NEWSLETTER, will be a guest lecturer. Michael Finlayson, a Festival director for the past three seasons, will conduct a special Shakespeare seminar under the sponsorship of the SUSC English Department.

The three directors for the 1975 repertoire, Professors Fred C. Adams, Burt Peachy, and Howard Jensen, will make contributions as will Festival company members from throughout the nation who are specialists in costuming, makeup, and technical theatre.

Plays selected for the coming season are MERCHANT OF VENICE, TWO GENTLEMEN OF VERONA, and RICHARD II.

Setting for the plays is the continent's most authentic Elizabethan theatre with an audience capacity of nearly 1,000. The open courtyard provides an outdoor setting which is enhanced by a star-studded summer sky and the fragrance of the campus pine groves.

Pre-play entertainment features dancing, singing, and instrumental PARK FOREST SOUTH, Ill.-- The nation's first annual Survival Week will be observed in a major program at Governors State University May 4-10.

"Survival Week - 1975; a Look Forward from the Bicentennial" will include industrial and educational exhibits and a forum for discussion by educators, business people, and environmentalists under the auspices of the American Society for Ecological Education, Inc.; GSU, and the South Suburban Environmental Education council.

The first annual Survival Week will follow the dedication of Governors State University April 20, when Gov. Dan Walker will be the principal speaker. Subsequently Survival Week will be observed the first week each May.

With the concept of Survival Week now being incorporated into environmental education programs for schools, it is hoped that nation-wide and world attention through school and community projects will focus investigation on the improvement of the quality of life and in solving environmental problems which threaten the very survival on earth.

Dr. William L. Mayo, president of the ASEE and university professor of environmental science in the College of Environmental and Applied Sciences at GSU, conceived Survival Week after it became apparent the old concept of Earth Week required a new and imperative approach.

The ASEE, the national professional organization of environmental educators and interested citizens, is a former contributory sponsor of Earth Week. Now the ASEE and the other sponsors of Survival Week wish to focus nation-wide and world attention to the every-increasing realization that the future of the nation, and indeed the planet, is based upon a consideration of environmental survival rather than just preserving the status quo.

"Such factors as world famine and the energy crisis make the concept of survival a reality - it can no longer be dismissed as dooms day rhetoric," according to Dr. Mayo.

Registration for Draft 'No Longer Necessary'

JJC has been advised by Washington, D.C. that it is "no longer necessary for any young man to register for the draft."

Furthermore it is indicated that in all probability there will be a form of registration at a later date but, the method to be used is not determined as yet.

Please be advised that the news media will advise its public of further developments.

"Operation Green Thumb" Now Underway at J.J.C.

Senior citizens can raise their own vegetables this summer and all it will cost them is their transportation to the Joliet Junior College campus and their seeds.

The JJC Board recently approved "Operation Green Thumb" which allows students to have the use of a 20 x 15 foot garden plot for the summer. Included in the cost is enrollment in a course entitled "Growing Vegetables at Home." Persons age 62 or over will be given one plot free. Additional plots will cost all participants $10 each.

The plot will be cultivated and fertilized, ready to seed. The 10-acre garden area being used for the plots is the best soil available on the college's 368-acre campus and is in close proximity to a water source. Each plot will be staked out with its owner's identification noted. Gardeners will be able to drive their cars to the garden area so that a minimum of walking will be necessary.

The garden area, unlike the remainder of the campus, will be open 7 days a week. Gardeners may work their plots either day or evening.

Interested persons should register in advance, and those under 62 should make prepayment of the $20 fee. Further information concerning the starting date for working the plots will be mailed to those registered. Further information may be obtained by contacting the college at 729-9020, Extension 346 or the Senior Services Center at 723-9713. Anyone desirous of registering for the plot and the gardening course may mail the registration to Office of Community Services, Joliet Junior College, 1216 Houbolt Avenue, Joliet, Illinois 60436. Payment should be included with mail registration of those under 62. Indication of age should be included for those 62 and older.

Campus Notes

SUMMER HOURS for the cafeteria have been announced. The cafeteria will be open during summer from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursdays. It will be closed on Fridays.

INQUIRIES concerning summer schedules have been received. The schedule is now at the printers and should be available for on-campus distribution within two weeks. The fall schedule has not been sent to the printers yet. Anyone writing fall schedules will have to use computer printouts for the next three to four weeks. Summer schedules will be mailed to all homes in the district the first week of May.

SEVERAL JJC MUSIC STUDENTS participated in a recital March 26, at 11:00 a.m. Students performing in the recital were Frank Paputis, Sergei Casper, Ken Reader, Bob Peterson, Andy Van De Voort, Sybil Duggins, Kris Stern, Omar Periu, Bruce Johnson, and Mike Collier.

THE APPEARANCE OF DICK GREGORY has been rescheduled for our campus on Thursday, May 9 at 8:30 p.m. The Gregory lecture is free to JJC students and staff.

DR. JACQUELINE SOLFRONK, KEN WARMAN, AND DR. WILLIAM CHASE attended the Illinois Psychological Association Annual Meeting at the Holiday Inn East in Springfield on March 20 and 21.

AUBREY A. "FIZZ" WILLS, JJC Board member and long-time JuCo coach, has been honored nationally in having a national award named for him. Wills, along with Floyd Wagstaff, retired basketball coach from Tyler Junior College, have lent their names to the Wills-Wagstaff Award to be presented annually to the most valuable player in community college competition. The DeKalb Tipoff Club of DeKalb, Georgia, sponsors the award which is, to junior colleges, that the Naismith Award is to four-year schools. Wills and Wagstaff have the all-time records for the greatest number of wins in a basketball coaching career.

NELSON COLLINS will speak at Knox College in Galesburg to the Illinois Council of Teachers of Mathematics' Regional Meeting. He will speak on math contests and the role of the junior colleges in such contests.

THE JJC PLAYERS' production "Man Of LaMancha" played to packed houses each of its six performances. Congratulations to all of the cast, orchestra, crew and to Ms. Rosaline Stone, Robert Mallary, and Larry Moore for a superb performance!

JJC JERSEYS AND T-SHIRTS in bright spring colors are on sale in the bookstore. Prices are under $5.00. The 20% reduction in jackets, etc. is still in effect.

Wildlife Federation Pays $500 Reward for Conviction in Eagle Killing Case

The National Wildlife Federation announced today that it will pay a $500 reward to a Tennessee duck hunting guide for supplying information that led to the conviction of a Memphis physician last month for killing a southern bald eagle.

The reward will go to Frederic Alfred Hamilton, 25, of Route 4, Union City, who saw a hunter shoot down an eagle from a duck blind at Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., on January 4. Hamilton supplied a detailed description of the hunter, his companions, and a pickup truck in which they left the scene to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service of Nashville.

His description, which was "near perfect," according to Special Agent William Parker of the Fish and Wildlife Service's Nashville office, was broadcast throughout the state. Three weeks later, on January 27, Dr. John W. Tosh, 50, admitted to U.S. Attorney Thomas F. Turley, at Memphis, that he had shot the eagle. On February 6 he pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge Bailey Brown to a charge of killing the eagle, an endangered and protected species, and was fined $1,000.

Judge Bailey, who could have imposed a $5,000 fine and a one-year prison term, said he wanted to "make an example" of the doctor, who told the court that he mistook the eagle for a hawk. "We must protect our endangered species so that our children will have something to look at," the judge told him.

Under federal law it is illegal to kill either a hawk or an eagle. The eagle shot down at Reelfoot Lake, a wintering site for more than 60 of the endangered birds, had a wingspan of about six feet and was approximately three years old.

The $500 reward to Hamilton is the fifth to be paid by the National Wildlife Federation, the country's largest nongovernment conservation organization. The reward was posted in 1971 after disclosure before a Congressional committee that airborne hunters, hired by ranchers, had killed more than 65 golden and bald eagles in Wyoming. The reward is paid, specifically, for "Substantial assistance" in obtaining a conviction for shooting a bald eagle (Haliaeetus leucocephalus) in violation of 16 USC 668.

"The main threat to our dwindling eagle population is not hunters, but the destruction of eagle habitat," said Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of the National Wildlife Federation, in announcing the reward to Hamilton. "That is why we are working to provide and protect habitat for our national bird. But the shooting of eagles must be stopped, and that is why, as a deterrent, we offer our $500 reward."

The Interior Department's Office of Endangered Species estimates that there are now approximately 2,000 northern bald eagles and fewer than 1,000 southern bald eagles in the "lower 48" states. The bald eagle was adopted as the national symbol by the Continental Congress in 1782.

Bell Opposes Walker Program

Springfield--State Senator James F. "Jim" Bell, R-Joliet, said today he will oppose the Governor's proposed Accelerated Building Program because of the threat it would create of a tax increase within the next few years.

He said the proposal, which calls for massive new bond authorizations to pay for state capital development projects, could not deal with the problems of today's economic crisis, but could bring financial disaster to the state.

Senator Bell suggested that if the Governor is convinced the program is needed, the question of increasing the state's level of debt should be put to the voters at a referendum.

He said the Accelerated Building Program calls for the legislature to increase the state's current bond authorization from a total of about $3 billion to $5 billion.

Work in Europe Still a Possibility

If you are a college student looking for a job you may end up working in Europe. Any student between the ages of 17 and 27 can have a temporary job in Europe. Most openings are in hotels, resorts, offices and restaurants in Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Spain and Switzerland. Positions are available to all college students who submit their applications by mail in time to allow for processing permits and working papers.

Working periods vary from 60 days to one year, but some students have stayed longer. As no previous experience, or foreign language is required, the door is open to anyone within the age limits. Wages range from $250 to more than $450 a month, plus free room and board, leaving wages free and clear.

In addition to living new experiences, and seeing Europe while you can, working in Europe offers the chance to travel on a pay-as-you-go basis without really being tied down. At several reunions recently held by students who had worked in Europe, the most heard comment was, "The experience alone was worth it."

Jobs and working papers are provided on a non-profit basis, and brief orientations are given in Europe just prior to going to work. These packed sessions speed adjustment to Europe and make certain all goes well on the job.

Any student interested in a temporary job in Europe may write directly to Student Overseas Services, Box 5176, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93108. Requests for job listings and an application must include name, address and twenty-five cents or the equivalent in stamps.

'Limit Trade with Oil Producing Countries': Bell

Springfield--The sale of food and military hardware to nations which attempt "petro-blackmail" should be limited, restricted or completely terminated, according to Senate Joint Resolution 3, sponsored by state Sen. James F. "Jim" Bell, R-Joliet.

The resolution is scheduled for hearing in the Senate Executive Committee on Tuesday, March 25. Bell commented:

"The people of the United States have begun to think of higher oil prices as a minor inconvenience or as a slight obstacle in the way of prosperity.

"But inflated oil prices are an extremely serious threat to the economic security of this nation and are, therefore, a threat to our national security.

"The stage is being set for a third world war, one that could be touched off by the need for oil at reasonable prices.

"The United States has the power to end this economic threat through its vast surpluses of food and military hardware. Oil blackmail can be countered very simply by the use of these two valuable commodities.

"There is no sane reason to do this when the state at the present time has only spent $860 million of its current $3 billion authorization," Senator Bell stated. "If we merely issue all the bonds now authorized, we will have done everything possible at the state level to stimulate our economy."

He added that increasing the bond level to the Governor's request would place a debt of more than $450 for at least 25 years on every person living in the state. Before a debt of that magnitude is assumed, it should be approved by the voters, he said.

"There is not question that Governor Walker is proposing a risky financial scheme that could end in a tax increase for the public and the state's loss of its triple-A bond rating," Bell asserted. "The people of my district don't want that to happen, and I'm not going to vote to let it happen."

"The President, the Congress, the secretary of state and the chairman of the United States Advisory Commission on Energy must imbue the people of this country with a sense of urgency in regard to energy self-sufficiency, and must make use of the economic weapons at our disposal."

A walk on the JJC campus at night is a quiet experience. Reflection of light on the lake on a calm evening is both beautiful and mysterious. Real wealth can be found in the study atmosphere that can be found in several places: the library, the bridge, and in empty classrooms. With exam time approaching in about four short weeks it's a good idea to keep JJC at night in mind.

New Coach, New Faces for JJC Men's Tennis

By MARK CARMEN

Getting to know the team members and their individual talents is the biggest problem a coach faces when stepping into a new situation. Interim tennis coach John Stobart is facing this problem at the present time. Coach Stobart is filling the vacancy left by Mr. Peter Neff who is on sabbatical in Europe.

The Wolves tennis team is in the process of playing a double elimination, intra-squad tournament to determine the top seven players. A junior college tennis match consists of three singles matches and two doubles matches. This system of competition calls for the seven top players from a given team to do the playing. The top seven players will fill these slots with the remainder of the team being used for support in the case of an injury or an emergency.

Returning from last years squad which finished third in the conference are Jim Tomac, Norm Russem, and co-captains Don Kozak and Rick Streitz. Tomac was the number two singles player last season. Kozak, Russem and Streitz are vying for both singles and doubles spots.

Newcomers to the Wolves this season are Wayne Adkins, Angelo DelRasso, Rico Hargis, Dan Harvey, Mike Friedrich, Anatole Sidorenko, Craig Cassem, Ron White and Brian Cripe. Coach Stobart is looking for fine showings from all of the first year men. In conference play each N4C team plays all the other league teams twice which allows a team to loose a conference match and still win the league title. The team has set the N4C crown as their goal for the '75 season.

Coach Stobart admits to coming into the coaching situation cold and not really knowing what to expect from this year team. "The team has turned out to be better than I thought they would be at this stage. I have confidence in them and fully believe that they can win the N4C championship."

The team could use some support from the JJC students so why not get out in the nice spring air and enjoy a tennis match. The Wolves start their season facing Morton College at home on March 27th, at three o'clock.
